WHAT MAY BE EXPECTED generally under the Harrison regime differs very little from the condition of affairs under the present Administration, and is very firmly set forth by the Philadelphia North American as follows:

There will not be two policies nor ten policies in administering the internal affairs of the United States. There will be but one policy. as in Texas, in Pennsylvania as in Oregon-the same everywhere. We hope this direct answer to the question put and discussed by our Southern contemporaries will prove conclusive. We are one people. Whatever concerns man in Maine concerns him in Mississippi. Whatever Pederal law operates in Pennsylvania operates in Maryland. We have no peculiar people in this country, no class, caste, nor condition which have any more or different rights one than another. Hence the policy of the new Administration will be uniform—national. It will not be more liberal toward one section than it s toward another. This we think a good sort of policy. So far as citizens are concerned we are to recognize no wards, no orphans, no infants. The new Administration will deal with all citizens as equals before the law, and it will strive to be just toward all, wherever they may be,

COL, MATSON'S PENSION RECORD WAS not enough to save him in Indiana, Possibly the Colonel will be less liberal

A MISSOURI CORRESPONDENT of the St. Louis Republic writes that the Demoeratic party is "the only exponent of honor, justice, patriotism and truth," and refers to the Republican party as the "beer and black party." We must insist that our Northern friends refrain from waving the bloody shirt.

YELLOW FEVER REFUGEES are returning to their homes in the South, but Congressmen have not yet begun to head for the National Capital. They'll get here by-and-by. The quarantine is raised.

THE RETURNS from West Virginia are coming in so slow that ample time is allowed for their "doctoring" to suit the demands of those most nearly interested. It is possible that West Virginia politicians are less dishonest than those of other States, but the indications in that State at present do not distinctly mark them as largely dissimilar from their brethren in other quarters.

AN OLD LADY was picked up by the police here vesterday who had come from Pennsylvania to borrow $300 from the President. She had evidently not heard how the election went.

THE Koelnische Zeitung, of Berlin, says that the votes of undecided floaters were purchased in Indiana for $25 each. Distance in this instance lends enchantment to the view and our distant contemporary has made the prospect $28 better than that enjoyed by the zeitung will hasten voter. We hope the Zeitung will hasten 'Now you knew,' said Mr. Kirkpatto correct the error it has given foreign publicity to, because if it is generally you could go no further, yet you deliber-known in Europe that ordinary ballot-ately collected these passengers' money. known in Europe that ordinary ballotbox votes are worth $25 apiece in this country we will have such an influx of foreign emigration that Europe will be depopulated. Two dollars is the standard price of a vote in Presidential years and at other times they run as low as a pint of whisky, and bad whisky at that.

Country we will have such an influx of "Well, I am going to take a hand in this block myself," said the merchant, and he hurriedly left the car.

The conductor laughed, but he didn't know Mr. Kirkpatrick. The indignant passenger walked back to Front street.

Patralpara Magnina of the fourth discountry we will have such an influx of pint of whisky, and bad whisky at that.

Harrison. It would appear from anteelection biographies that the gentleman was not related to Ben Harrison.

SPEAKER CARLISLE is in trouble wit his election returns again. This time is is "perforated tickets." The difficulty is mersiv technical, and he will scarcely be defeated on a technicality.

An Election Outrage

Eugene Field, the widely-known Chicago Iterateur, was up bright and early last Tuesdry morning resolved to cast his ballot for the electoral ticket of his choice. He had registered and anticipated no delay in exercising his right as a native American. Approaching the window of the polling booth in Lake View he took a nearly folded ballot from his necketbook and announced his name and resistency. ocketbook and announced his name and resi-Where wuz yez borny" horsely whispered

Of George William Curtis over the Dead Body of Grover. FIRST CITIZEN: This Grover was a tyrant! SECOND CITTEEN: Nay, that's certain. re blest that we are rid of him.

G. W. C.: You gentle Romans THIRD CITIERS: Peace, let us hear what G. Willie Curtis can say of him. CITIZENS ! Down in front! Let us bear him

G. W. C.: Friends, old Romans, Countrymen, lend me your ears; I come to bury Grover, not to praise him. The good that men do lives after them; the evil is oft planted with their bones: that's the kind of a man Grover was. The noble Dana hath told you Grover was a Mugwump : If it were so, it were a grievous fault, and grievously hath Grover answered it. Here under leave of Dana and the rest-for Dana is an honorable man, so are they all, all honorable men-come I to speak in Grover's funeral. He was my friend; faithful and just to me : but Dana says he was a Mugwump, and Dana is an honorable man. He hath brought many offices home to Rome whose salaries did the party's coffers fill. Did this in Gover seem mugwumpery? You all did love him once, not without cause: what cause withholds you now to mourn for him? Bear with me; my heart is in the coflin there with Grover, and I must pause till it comes back to Finst Cit.: Methicks there is much reason in his sayings.

SEC. Cir.: If thou consider rightly of the matter, Grover has had great wrong. THIRD CIT.: Well, I should smile. I fear there will a worse come in his place. FOURTH CIT.: Now, mark him; he begins again to speak.

G. W. U.: But yesterday the word of Grover might have stood against the world; now lies he there, and none so poor to do him reverence. If you have tears, prepare to shed them now. You all do know this mantle. I re-member the first time Grover put it on; 'twas on a March morning, some months before the day he overcame the Republicanii. Look, in this place ran Gorman's dagger through; see what a rent the envious Dave Hill made; through this the disenchanting Dana stabbed, and as he plucked his sharpened knife away, mark how the hope of Grover followed it, as rushing out of door, to be resolved if Dana so unkindly knocked or no. This was the most unkindest cut of all, for when the noble Grover saw him stab, ingratitude more strong than traitors' arms quite vanquished him; then burst his mighty heart, and Grover fell. Oh, what a fall was there, my countrymen! Then I, and you, and all of us, fell down, whilst bloody treason flourished over us.

CITIZENS: Oh, piteous spectacie! Oh, noble Brover! Oh, woeful day! Revenge! Seek! Burn! Fire! Slay! Let not a traitor live! G. W. C.: Good friends, sweet friends, let me not stir you up to such a flood of mutiny. They that have done this deed are honorable What private griefs they have, alas! I know not, that made them do it; they are wise and honorable, and will no doubt with reason answer you. I am no editor, as Dana is, but as you know me all, a plain, blunt man, that ove my friend; but were I Dana, and Dana Curtis, there were a Curtis would ruffle up your spirits and put a tongue in every wound of Grover that should move the stones of Rome to rise and mutiny. Now let the funeral proceed! [Excunt Citizens with Grover's body.]

An Indignant Passenger Causes the Loss of About 500 Fares.

William H. Kirkpatrick, one of the best-known wool merchants in Philadelphia, shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon walked from his place of business, on Front street, above Chestnut, over to Market street and took a car for Twenty-first street, on which, above Arch, he resides. The conductor got his fare at Second street, and between Seyenth and Eighth streets the car stopped. with a number ahead of it. The culvert at Ninth street was broken and there was being swindled out of their fares by the Traction Company.

Officer Maguire "sized" the gentleman up, saw he was a responsible man, and it struck him as a square enough thing

So he accompanied him out to the car tracks. Two Columbia avenue cars and two Market street cars were turning thecurve for the return trip, and brought up right beside them. People came hurrying from Mr. Kirkpatrick threw oper his light overcoat and was ready for

A pretty girl first tripped from the pavement to the Columbia avenue car, and had reached the steps when Mr. Kirkpatrick said: "Pardon me, but you can't go any further than Sixth street;

the cars are blocked."
"Oh, thank you, sir," she said with a blush, and turned away to Arch street, Mr. Kirkpatrick was even on his own fare, anyway. But he hadn't fairly be-gun. As the crowd from the lerry reached the waiting cars he was every-where, crying "There's a block at Sixth street; you can't go further." People turned away by the dozens. #### THE EPISCOPAL COUNCIL

The Subject of Establishing a Seminary For Colored University Students, At the afternoon session of the General Missionary Council of the Episcopal Church, held at the Epiphany yesterday, the Rev. Dr. Langford read the annual report of the board of managers, which showed the finances of the board to be in a very healthy condition. The report m a very healthy condition. The report was referred to a special committee consisting of Bishop Tuttle, Rev. Dr. J. H. Elliott, Rev. Dr. G. W. Smith, Mr. Hill Bingwin and Mr. John H. Stellmins.

Blahop Johnson, of Texas, and Rev. Dr. Bettinger, of Ohio, made addresses on the growth of mission work.

Resolutions were offered looking to the appointment of a hishop for Alaska and to the division of the jurisdiction of New Mexico and Arizona by appointing a sep-arate bishop for the latter territory.

Bishop Dudley, of Kentucky, submit ted a report from the church work among the colored people. The report favors ing school in connection with the Howard University of this city. To support his proposition Bishop Dudley cites the ex-ample of the late Bishop Harris in the establishment of his divinity school at

The discussion of the subject was continued at the evening session, when Bishop Whipple presided. Rev. Dr. Grey, of Nashville, Tenn., urged the establishment of the school at that city, and gave some good reasons for his sug-gestion. Rev. Dr. Langdon, of Bedford, church hall in connection with some already established university.

The resolution, as amended by Bishop

Donne, was finally adopted, as follows: 'That the council commends as practi cable and wise the plan proposed in the report of the commission for work among the colored people of founding, in con nection with some established univer sity, a hall for the special training of col ored candidates for the ministry." Bishop Paret spoke in favor of Howard University. Rev. Dr. Cummel, of St. Luke's colored church, made a few remarks on the subject and concluded by saying that he thought the plan of building halls in conjunction with existing universities a good one. At the conclusion of Rev. Dr. Cummel's address the resolution was

After an address by Bishop Talbot, the missionary bishop of Idaho, the council adjourned until 9 o'clock this morning. The Church Missionary Society.

The Church Missionary Society, which is an auxiliary of the General Council, met yesterday afternoon in Ascension Church. Right Rev. Dr. George A. Peterkin, Bishop of West Virginia, presided, and addressed the meeting on the principles and work of the society. Prof. Crawford, of the Theological Seminary of Alexandria, offered a resoution, urging that the society take up missionary work in Brazil. In support of his resolution Prof. Crawford stated that three young men of his seminary were ready to go to Brazil, and that annual pledges for the support of two of them had been obtained.

The resolution was referred to the ex-ecutive committee for action. Rev. Dr. Stanger, of New York, offered a resolu-tion that all the friends of the society, as far as they may be able, are requested to send their contributions for foreign and domestic missions through its agency. It was then announced that Mr. Courtney de Kalb, of New York, who had promised to speak in reference to harmonizing the work in Mexico, was unable to be present, and after a brief discussion the society adjourned sine die.

Separation Not Desired. Secretary Newbold, of the American Church Missionary Society, writes as follows to The Evening Post, correcting this statement in last night's issue:

"This last statement is in direct opposition to the facts. No one desired or proposed such separation. Your reporter s misunderstood the matter. Rev. Dr. Grammer, of Baltimore, said he regretted the society had ever be come auxiliary to the board, but he did not propose separation, and he was the person who expressed such re For eleven years this society has been working in entire harmony with the board as its recognized auxiliary, and its many friends regard this as a position of great advantage. "A large number of them have ex-pressed their regret and indignation that
